The Precepts of the Church — Part II

This week, we shall take a look at the first and fourth precepts in a little more detail.

1. You shall attend Mass on Sundays and holy days of obligation

Holy days were instituted by the Church to recall to our minds the great mysteries of religion and the virtues and rewards of the saints.

For just the same reason the government has instituted civic holidays. What would the people of this country know or think at the present time about the First Fleet and the settlement of Australia, and all connected with it, if they did not celebrate Australia Day every year? And Anzac Day keeps alive in our memory the sacrifices of our forebears of nearly a hundred years ago — their great battles, their sufferings and triumph, the security they won for us.

In like manner, the feast of the Resurrection of Our Lord keeps us in mind of the sad condition in which we were before Our Lord redeemed us, and how he liberated us from the slavery of the devil and secured for us so many blessings. So, too, when we celebrate every year the feast of a saint in the Church, it keeps before our minds his works and all that he did for God and the Church and makes us anxious to imitate his virtues.

On every day in the year the Church honours some mystery of our holy faith or some saint by saying Mass all over the world in honour of the feast, and by obliging the priests and bishops to say the Divine Office for the same purpose. The feast day of a saint is generally the day on which he died; because that is considered the day on which he entered into Heaven — the day on which he was born into the new world.

The Divine Office is a collection of prayers, hymns, lessons, and psalms which every priest and bishop must read every day of his life. As it is said each day in honour of some particular mystery or saint, the greater part of it differs for each day. The prayers are to God, asking some grace or blessing in honour of the saint — generally such graces as were granted to the saint. The hymns are in the saint's honour; the lessons are excerpts from Holy Scripture, or an account of the saint's life; and the psalms are those beautiful poems that King David composed and sang to God.

The Divine Office is the prayer of the universal Church for its children, and if a priest neglects to say it he commits a mortal sin.

It takes about an hour to say the Divine Office in its entirety, but it is not intended to be said all at once. It is so divided that it is said at three times in the day. The part called Matins and Lauds is said very early in the morning and before Mass. The part called Little Hours is said later in the day; and the part called Vespers and Compline is said in the afternoon.

See, therefore, how anxious the Church is for the good of its children, when it makes its bishops, priests, and religious pray daily for all the faithful, and send up in one voice the same prayer to the throne of God.

4. You shall keep holy the holy days of obligation

We should keep the holy days of obligation as we should keep Sunday.

In Australia, in addition to every Sunday, there are two holy days of obligation:

- 1: the Nativity of Our Lord Jesus Christ, Christmas Day— December 25
- 2: The Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary — August 15

The number of holy days of obligation was once much greater. In 1911, St Pope Pius X reduced the number of such non-Sunday holy days from 36 to eight. Since then they have been reduced to two for Australia.

Non-Sunday holy days of obligation all have the rank of solemnity. Accordingly, if in Ordinary Time one of them falls on a Sunday, the Sunday celebration gives way to it; but the Sundays of Advent, Lent and Eastertide take precedence over all solemnities, which are then transferred to another day.

Moreover, these two holy days of obligation are to be observed annually, regardless of the day of the week on which they fall. The Decree of Promulgation became effective on 16 September, 2001.

26th Sunday in Ordinary Time – Year A

1st Reading – Ezekiel 18:25-28

The word of the Lord was addressed to me as follows: 'You object, "What the Lord does is unjust." Listen, you House of Israel: is what I do unjust? Is it not what you do that is unjust? When the upright man renounces his integrity to commit sin and dies because of this, he dies because of the evil that he himself has committed. When the sinner renounces sin to become law-abiding and honest, he deserves to live. He has chosen to renounce all his previous sins; he shall certainly live; he shall not die.'

The word of the Lord.
Thanks be to God.

Responsorial Psalm - Psalm 24(25):4-9

Res: Remember your mercies O Lord,

Lord, make me know your ways.
Lord, teach me your paths.
Make me walk in your truth, and teach me:
for you are God my saviour.

Remember your mercies O Lord,

Remember your mercy, Lord,
and the love you have shown from of old.
Do not remember the sins of my youth.
In your love remember me, because of your goodness,
O Lord.

Remember your mercies O Lord.

The Lord is good and upright.
He shows the path to those who stray,
He guides the humble in the right path,
He teaches his way to the poor.

Remember your mercies O Lord.

2nd Reading – Philippians 2:1-11

If our life in Christ means anything to you, if love can persuade at all, or the Spirit that we have in common, or any tenderness and sympathy, then be united in your convictions and united in your love, with a common purpose and a common mind. That is the one thing which would make me completely happy. There must be no competition among you, no conceit; but everybody is to be self-effacing. Always consider the other person to be better than yourself, so that nobody thinks of his own interests first but everybody thinks of other people's interests instead. In your minds you must be the same as Christ Jesus:

His state was divine, yet he did not cling to his equality with God but emptied himself to assume the condition of a slave and became as men are; and being as all men are, he was humbler yet, even to accepting death, death on a cross. But God raised him high and gave him the name which is above all other names so that all beings in the heavens, on earth and in the underworld, should bend the knee at the name of Jesus and that every tongue should acclaim.

Jesus Christ as Lord,
to the glory of God the Father.

Gospel Acclamation

Alleluia, alleluia!
My sheep listen to my voice, says the Lord;
I know them, and they follow me.
Alleluia!

Gospel – Matthew 21:28-32

Jesus said to the chief priests and elders of the people, 'What is your opinion? A man had two sons. He went and said to the first, "My boy, you go and work in the vineyard today." He answered, "I will not go," but afterwards thought better of it and went. The man then went and said the same thing to the second who answered, "Certainly, sir," but did not go. Which of the two did the father's will?' 'The first' they said. Jesus said to them, 'I tell you solemnly, tax collectors and prostitutes are making their way into the kingdom of God before you. For John came to you, a pattern of true righteousness, but you did not believe him, and yet the tax collectors and prostitutes did. Even after seeing that, you refused to think better of it and believe in him

The Gospel of the Lord.
Praise to you, Lord Jesus Christ.
