News from Fr Fabian

- The new Stations of the Cross have been ordered from Rome, thanks to the generosity of our parishioners. I have been informed by the supplier that this model is very popular and frequently purchased. Therefore there might be a delay in us receiving it. They will be arriving in the parish hopefully at the start of Lent.
- The old Stations of the Cross were gifted to us by the Box Hill Parish when they were renovating their Church. The old Stations of the Cross set has been re-gifted to St Michael's Parish, North Melbourne where Fr Nicholas Pearce is Parish Priest.
- Thank you to the Social Group for organising and executing a wonderful Parish Dance on 9th November. The total profit raised from this event is $8246.39. Thank you to all who contributed towards the Dance. Thank you to the Social Group for organising last weekend's food sale. The total amount raised is $4300.64. I would like to extend my appreciation and gratitude to all our parishioners who contributed food, time and treasure to make these events very successful. May God continue to bless you in abundance.
- Thank you to Brian and his team of volunteers who have given of their time to attend the working bee on Saturday.
- The Church's WiFi link was damaged in the rain during last week's thunderstorms. The link had to be replaced and the upgrades cost $1820.50
- It has been a year since we set up our parish Special Needs account to help those in need in our community. Every year on one Sunday during Lent and Advent we will take up a third collection to fund this account. Next Sunday there will be a third collection for this purpose.

All of our prayers thus far have served to bring us to the moment of Holy Communion, the moment when God incarnate joins himself with us, mingling his body and blood with ours, sharing his soul and divinity with our poor humanity.

Much of the language of the Mass has been exalted, the movements sometimes elaborate.

Yet now, as the drama reaches its climax, the rite becomes spare and simple. It is beautiful in its simplicity. It is profound in its simplicity. But it is nonetheless simple.

Each communicant bows reverently while approaching the priest. The priest holds up a host and says: "The body of Christ." The communicant says: "Amen", and receives Jesus.

The Church has preserved the rite in this simplicity since the earliest centuries. In the fourth century, St Ambrose described it in terms that still apply today: "The priest says to you, 'the body of Christ.' And you say, 'Amen.'" From the same generation, we find descriptions of the rite in Jerusalem and North Africa, and they are exactly the same.

In the West we do have options for our manner of receiving the host. We may receive on the tongue, or we may receive in the hand. If we receive on the tongue, we should open our mouth wide and move our tongue forward, making it visible and accessible to the priest, deacon, or the extraordinary minister of Holy Communion who is assisting him.

If we receive in the hand, we may follow the instructions given by St Cyril of Jerusalem in the fourth century. He said to make one hand "a throne" for the other. "Then hollow your palm, and receive the body of Christ, saying over it, 'Amen'." A right-handed person would place the right hand under the left, then receive the host in the palm of the left hand. After stepping to the side, the communicant should pick up the host with the right hand and consume it. (A left-handed person would place the left hand under the right, then receive the host in the palm of the right hand. Stepping to the side, the communicant would pick up the host with the left hand and consume it.)

St Cyril exhorts his flock to be "careful not to lose any small particle, for whatever you lose is as much a loss to you as if it were one of your own limbs. Tell me, if anyone gave you grains of gold, would you not hold them with utmost care, on guard against losing any? Will you not take greater care not to lose a crumb of what is more precious than gold or jewels?"

St Cyril continued: "Then, after partaking the body of Christ, draw near to the cup of his blood ... bowing reverently and saying, 'Amen'. Then bring a blessing upon yourself by partaking of the blood of Christ." We sip from the chalice and return it to the minister who handed it to us.

It is an easy thing to follow such a simple rite. This simplicity leaves our mind free for prayer. So we should approach Holy Communion in a recollected way and try not to be distracted, even if we catch sight of people we know. We should keep our focus on Jesus and prepare ourselves for an intimate encounter.

After Communion, as we wait for the remaining worshippers to receive, we should intensify our prayer, knowing that, at that moment, we are as close to Jesus as it is possible to be. The decision to distribute Communion under one kind or both belongs to the priest who celebrates Mass (and to his bishop). The sacramental sign is richer and more complete when the congregation receives the host and from the chalice. In that form, the Mass has more the appearance of a meal, a banquet especially that sacred meal when Jesus said, "Take ... eat" and "Take ... drink".

Sometimes, however in flu season, for example, the local church or any individual priest may decide that it is best not to share a common chalice. His decision should be respected.

Christ, after all, is fully present under each species alone. When we receive the host by itself, we receive Jesus' body and blood, soul and divinity. When we receive from the chalice alone, we receive Jesus' body and blood, soul and divinity.

People with severe sensitivities to wheat, for example, can receive only from the chalice; but, doing so, they receive all of Jesus and all the grace of the sacrament.

2nd SUNDAY OF ADVENT- YEAR C

1st Reading - Baruch 5:1-9

Jerusalem, take off your dress of sorrow and distress, put on the beauty of the glory of God for ever, wrap the cloak of the integrity of God around you, put the diadem of the glory of the Eternal on your head: since God means to show your splendour to every nation under heaven, since the name God gives you for ever will be, 'Peace through integrity, and honour through devotedness.' Arise, Jerusalem, stand on the heights and turn your eyes to the east: see your sons reassembled from west and east at the command of the Holy One, jubilant that God has remembered them. Though they left you on foot, with enemies for an escort, now God brings them back to you like royal princes carried back in glory. For God has decreed the flattening of each high mountain, of the everlasting hills, the filling of the valleys to make the ground level so that Israel can walk in safety under the glory of God. And the forests and every fragrant tree will provide shade for Israel at the command of God; for God will guide Israel in joy by the light of his glory with his mercy and integrity for escort.

The word of the Lord.

Thanks be to God.

Responsorial Psalm-125(126)

The Lord has done great things for us; we are filled with joy.

When the Lord delivered Zion from bondage,
it seemed like a dream.

Then was our mouth filled with laughter,
on our lips there were songs.

The Lord has done great things for us; we are filled with joy.

The heathens themselves said: 'What marvels

the Lord worked for them!'

What marvels the Lord worked for us!

Indeed we were glad.

The Lord has done great things for us; we are filled with joy.

Deliver us, O Lord, from our bondage
as streams in dry land.

Those who are sowing in tears
will sing when they reap.

The Lord has done great things for us; we are filled with joy.

They go out, they go out, full of tears,
carrying seed for the sowing:
they come back, they come back, full of song,
carrying their sheaves.

The Lord has done great things for us; we are filled with joy.

2nd Reading - Philippians 1:4-6,8-11

Every time I pray for all of you, I pray with joy, remembering how you have helped to spread the Good News from the day you first heard it right up to the present. I am quite certain that the One who began this good work in you will see that it is finished when the Day of Christ Jesus comes; and God knows how much I miss you all, loving you as Christ Jesus loves you. My prayer is that your love for each other may increase more and more and never stop improving your knowledge and deepening your perception so that you can always recognise what is best. This will help you to become pure and blameless, and prepare you for the Day of Christ, when you will reach the perfect goodness which Jesus Christ produces in us for the glory and praise of God.

The word of the Lord.

Thanks be to God.

Gospel Acclamation

Alleluia!

Prepare the way of the Lord, make straight his paths:
all people shall see the salvation of God.

Alleluia!

Gospel Luke 3:1-6

In the fifteenth year of Tiberius Caesar's reign, when Pontius Pilate was governor of Judaea, Herod tetrarch of Galilee, his brother Philip tetrarch of the lands of Ituraea and Trachonitis, Lysanias tetrarch of Abilene, during the pontificate of Annas and Caiaphas the word of God came to John son of Zechariah, in the wilderness. He went through the whole Jordan district proclaiming a baptism of repentance for the forgiveness of sins, as it is written in the book of the sayings of the prophet Isaiah:

A voice cries in the wilderness:

Prepare a way for the Lord,
make his paths straight.

Every valley will be filled in,
every mountain and hill be laid low,
winding ways will be straightened and rough roads made smooth.

And all mankind shall see the salvation of God.

The Gospel of the Lord.

Praise to you, Lord Jesus Christ.
