Propagation of Faith Appeal - 14th and 15th June

June is World Mission month. Next weekend, our Parish will have a third collection to support the work of Catholic Mission.

For women like Sharon, who must choose between feeding their children or selling their crops to survive, and Grace, who risked her life traveling 160km for safe childbirth, hope comes through Sr Jane and Kayula. Through sustainable farming, Sr Jane helps women provide for their families. At the Chilonga Mission Hospital, Kayula ensures mothers and babies receive the dignity and care they deserve.

This World Mission Month, we invite you to extend your generosity to help enhance the vital work of the Church. Your support can make a significant difference to the lives of many, offering hope to the people of Zambia.

The Holy Spirit II

The Nicene Creed says of the Holy Spirit that he “spoke through the prophets”. What does that mean? Well, in the first place it means that the Holy Spirit gave certain messages of warning to the Jews by means of Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, Daniel and many others. They were moved to say various things, many of which it is difficult to understand, and some of which they probably didn’t understand themselves. They were carried away by the impetus of the Holy Spirit, and the great point is that many of the things which they said, or rather which he said through them, were prophecies about the coming of Jesus.

I do not suppose that Isaiah quite knew what he was talking about when he wrote: “Behold, a Virgin shall conceive and bear a Son”. He just felt impelled, somehow, to say that, because that was what the Holy Spirit wanted him to say.

But this clause in the Creed also means that the whole of the Old Testament is inspired. And a lot of the books in the Old Testament are not prophecy exactly; they are pieces of history, and sometimes, like other pieces of history, it must be admitted, that they are not very exciting to read, especially when you come across long lists of names. Well, all that is inspired. What do we mean when we say that it is inspired? Do we mean that the men who originally wrote those books simply sat down with a pen and took it all down as the Holy Spirit dictated it to them? Must we picture them as saying: “Amasias was five and twenty years old when he began to reign (yes, I’ve got that), and he reigned nine and twenty years in Jerusalem (yes, I’ve got that), and his mother’s name was Joadan (how do you spell Joadan, please?)” and so on? There have been people before now who have thought of the inspiration of Holy Scripture as if it were a mere process of dictation of that kind.

But of course that is not how the Old Testament was written, and you can prove it. Because if you look at the Second Book of Maccabees (which very few people do) you will find that the author describes to us how he wrote his book. He says he has abridged in one book all the history that was written in five books by someone called Jason of Cyrene. Now, there is no reason whatever to think that Jason of Cyrene was inspired. But the man — we don’t know his name, or anything about him — who got to work and boiled down those five books into one book, the Second Book of Maccabees, was inspired. But inspiration didn’t make it an easy job. No. This man says: “As to ourselves indeed, in undertaking this work of abridging, we have taken in hand no easy task; yea, rather a business full of watching and sweat.” And when he had finished, although it was an inspired book, this man wasn’t in the least certain that it would be a bestseller. He says at the end: “I will here make an end of my narration, which if I have done well, and as becometh the history, it is what I desired; but if not so perfectly, it must be pardoned me.” He sat down and wrote quite an ordinary book, in quite an ordinary way; yet it was inspired.

What do we mean when we say that any book of the Old Testament was inspired? That the Holy Spirit helped the writers, watched over the process and saw they did it right; put ideas, perhaps, into their heads, which made them say: “That’s a good idea; I never thought of that before” — but it all seemed to come out of their heads; and indeed it did come out of their heads, because the Holy Spirit works in our heads.

That doesn’t necessarily mean that every word in the Old Testament is to be taken at face value. You find it stated in the Psalms, for instance, that God has made the round world so sure that it cannot be moved. And when Copernicus and then Galileo produced the idea which we all now believe, that the earth spins on its axis, a lot of people said: “That’s heresy! The Bible tells us the earth can’t be moved, and here are these people wanting us to believe that it’s speeding round and round like mad!” But the Psalms weren’t written to teach us geography; they are poetry, and the person who wrote that verse was just talking in the ordinary language of his time. So you cannot be certain that every word of the Old Testament is literally true. But you can be certain that the theology of the Old Testament, once you have understood it properly and made allowances for the Hebrew way of saying things, must be true; because when it was written the Holy Spirit was at work to see that the thing got done right.

And nor was the Holy Spirit at work only among the Jews. All through those centuries before our Lord came, whenever a human heart aspired to God, it was the same old story; it was the Third Person of the Blessed Trinity carrying out in this visible, created world the same work which he carries out in the uncreated, invisible world of eternity. He was making, in us, that response of love towards the eternal Father which it is his nature to make. In spite of the Fall, there is a kind of instinct which makes man look up to God, try to get back to God, and, that instinct is the silent working of the Holy Spirit, in the very heart even of unredeemed mankind.

It is difficult to get a right idea about the work of the Holy Spirit in the order of grace, until you have some idea of what the Holy Spirit does in the order of nature. His essential office is to be the response of love in our hearts to the goodness of God.

1st Reading- Acts 2:1-11

When Pentecost day came round, they had all met in one room, when suddenly they heard what sounded like a powerful wind from heaven, the noise of which filled the entire house in which they were sitting; and something appeared to them that seemed like tongues of fire; these separated and came to rest on the head of each of them. They were all filled with the Holy Spirit, and began to speak foreign languages as the Spirit gave them the gift of speech.

Now there were devout men living in Jerusalem from every nation under heaven, and at this sound they all assembled, each one bewildered to hear these men speaking his own language. They were amazed and astonished. 'Surely' they said 'all these men speaking are Galileans? How does it happen that each of us hears them in his own native language? Parthians, Medes and Elamites; people from Mesopotamia, Judaea and Cappadocia, Pontus and Asia, Phrygia and Pamphylia, Egypt and the parts of Libya round Cyrene; as well as visitors from Rome – Jews and proselytes alike – Cretans and Arabs; we hear them preaching in our own language about the marvels of God.'

The word of the Lord.
Thanks be to God.

Responsorial Psalm - Psalm 103(104):1,24,29-31,34
Lord, send out your Spirit, and renew the face of the earth.

Bless the Lord, my soul!

Lord God, how great you are,
How many are your works, O Lord!
The earth is full of your riches.

Lord, send out your Spirit, and renew the face of the earth.

You take back your spirit, they die,
returning to the dust from which they came.
You send forth your spirit, they are created;
and you renew the face of the earth.

Lord, send out your Spirit, and renew the face of the earth.

May the glory of the Lord last for ever!
May the Lord rejoice in his works!
May my thoughts be pleasing to him.
I find my joy in the Lord.

Lord, send out your Spirit, and renew the face of the earth.

2nd Reading-Romans 8:8-17

People who are interested only in unspiritual things can never be pleasing to God. Your interests, however, are not in the unspiritual, but in the spiritual, since the Spirit of God has made his home in you. In fact, unless you possessed the Spirit of Christ you would not belong to him. Though your body may be dead it is because of sin, but if Christ is in you then your spirit is life itself because you have been justified; and if the Spirit of him who raised Jesus from the dead is living in you, then he who raised Jesus from the dead will give life to your own mortal bodies through his Spirit living in you.

So then, my brothers, there is no necessity for us to obey our unspiritual selves or to live unspiritual lives. If you do live in that way, you are doomed to die; but if by the Spirit you put an end to the misdeeds of the body you will live.

Everyone moved by the Spirit is a son of God. The spirit you received is not the spirit of slaves bringing fear into your lives again; it is the spirit of sons, and it makes us cry out, 'Abba, Father!' The Spirit himself and our spirit bear united witness that we are children of God. And if we are children we are heirs as well: heirs of God and coheirs with Christ, sharing his sufferings so as to share his glory.

The word of the Lord.
Thanks be to God.

Gospel Acclamation

Gospel John 14:15-16,23-26

Jesus said to his disciples:

'If you love me you will keep my commandments.
I shall ask the Father,
and he will give you another Advocate
to be with you for ever.

'If anyone loves me he will keep my word,
and my Father will love him,
and we shall come to him and make our home with him.
Those who do not love me do not keep my words.
And my word is not my own:

it is the word of the one who sent me.
I have said these things to you while still with you;
but the Advocate, the Holy Spirit,
whom the Father will send in my name,
will teach you everything
and remind you of all I have said to you.
