Fruits of the Holy Spirit — Part I

Fruits," are the things that grow from the gifts of the Holy Spirit. The twelve fruits of the Holy Spirit are charity, joy, peace, patience, benignity, goodness, long-suffering, mildness, faith, modesty, continence, and chastity.

FAITH, HOPE & CHARITY

To properly understand the virtue of charity, we must understand it in relation to the other theological virtues and the fruits of the Spirit it inspires. The theological virtues of faith, hope, and charity are infused by God at Baptism and adapt man's faculties for participation in the divine life of the Blessed Trinity (cf. Catechism, no. 1812). These virtues are bestowed with sanctifying grace, which works through the virtues to conform us to Christ (cf. Catechism, no. 1999). Thus, by the work of the Holy Spirit within us, the theological virtues animate our actions and make us capable of living as children of God and meriting eternal life (cf. Catechism, no. 1813).

Faith precedes hope. It provides knowledge, which arouses hope for the things known but not gained. Hope precedes charity in that hope desires the goal which charity attains. Ultimately, this goal is God Himself. Thus, the nature of charity is to fulfill the works of faith and hope. For by faith we are justified "and we rejoice in our hope of sharing the glory of God" (Rom. 5:2). In charity, we are sanctified and our hope is fulfilled, "because God's love has been poured into our hearts through the Holy Spirit who has been given to us" (Rom. 5:5; cf. Catechism, no. 2001).

Charity is the new commandment of Christ and the greatest of the virtues. Our Lord gave a new command to "love one another as I have loved you" (cf. Jn 15:9-10). As He only commands what is possible, the infused virtue of charity gives us the ability to love like God. It constitutes friendship between God and man. Because charity embodies union of God with man, it must be the focus of the spiritual life. It directs the other virtues toward God for love of Him. This love renders the practice of all other virtues meritorious of eternal life (cf. 1 Cor. 13:1-13). Charity not only fulfills faith and hope, but it encourages a deeper faith, renewed hope, and thus grows itself as that renewed hope is attained (cf. Catechism, no. 1827). The source of charity is the Holy Spirit dwelling within us after Baptism. He moves us to live our lives in charity as worthy sons and daughters of God. When we respond to His movements within us, we reap the harvest of our good works. The fruits of this harvest are the fruits of the Holy Spirit (cf. Gal. 5:22-23). The fruits particularly associated with charity are joy, peace, and mercy (cf. Catechism, no. 1829). These are not emotions, but rather dispositions of the soul that allow us to take delight in the Lord irrespective of our earthly fortunes. They are the spiritual health of the soul and continually renew hope. As a consequence of renewed hope, the fruits of the Spirit encourage continued acts of charity, which in turn atone for sins (cf. 1 Pet. 4:8). In this way, a life of charity is a life of joy and peace that enjoys the mercy of God. Many individuals who seek to live a holy life, and who therefore want to make prayer a more important part of their lives, wonder how they can tell if their experiences in prayer are truly inspiration from God or whether they are mere psychological delusions.

Well, the best approach here is to look to the "fruits" of the prayer—that is, the effects that prayer produces in your life—and ask if those fruits are the fruits of the Holy Spirit.

So, what are the fruits of the Holy Spirit? In Galatians 5:22–23 St Paul names them: love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, generosity, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control.<sup>[1]</sup>

Let's look, then, at how each of these fruits might manifest in a soul that receives divine graces through prayer. Note carefully, though, that your spiritual life will not produce fruits unless it has strong roots growing in the good soil of detachment from the world, and dedicated contemplation of the Mysteries of the Faith, and constant prayer for spiritual purification.

First Reading - Genesis 18:20-32

The Lord said, 'How great an outcry there is against Sodom and Gomorrah! How grievous is their sin! I propose to go down and see whether or not they have done all that is alleged in the outcry against them that has come up to me. I am determined to know.'

The men left there and went to Sodom while Abraham remained standing before the Lord. Approaching him he said, 'Are you really going to destroy the just man with the sinner? Perhaps there are fifty just men in the town. Will you really overwhelm them, will you not spare the place for the fifty just men in it? Do not think of doing such a thing: to kill the just man with the sinner, treating just and sinner alike! Do not think of it! Will the judge of the whole earth not administer justice?' the Lord replied, 'If at Sodom I find fifty just men in the town, I will spare the whole place because of them. 'Abraham replied, 'I am bold indeed to speak like this to my Lord, I who am dust and ashes. But perhaps the fifty just men lack five: will you destroy the whole city for five?' 'No,' he replied 'I will not destroy it if I find forty-five just men there.' Again Abraham said to him, 'Perhaps there will only be forty there.' 'I will not do it' he replied 'for the sake of the forty.' Abraham said, 'I trust my Lord will not be angry, but give me leave to speak: perhaps there will only be thirty there.' 'I will not do it' he replied 'if I find thirty there.' He said, 'I am bold indeed to speak like this, but perhaps there will only be twenty there.' 'I will not destroy it' he replied 'for the sake of the twenty.' He said, 'I trust my Lord will not be angry if I speak once more: perhaps there will only be ten.' 'I will not destroy it' he replied 'for the sake of the ten.'

Responsorial Psalm - 137(138):1-3,6-8

Lord, on the day I called for help, you answered me.

I thank you, Lord, with all my heart:

    you have heard the words of my mouth.
In the presence of the angels I will bless you.

    I will adore before your holy temple.

Lord, on the day I called for help, you answered me.

I thank you for your faithfulness and love,
which excel all we ever knew of you.

On the day I called, you answered;
you increased the strength of my soul.

Lord, on the day I called for help, you answered me.

The Lord is high yet he looks on the lowly
and the haughty he knows from afar.
Though I walk in the midst of affliction
you give me life and frustrate my foes.

Lord, on the day I called for help, you answered me.

You stretch out your hand and save me,
your hand will do all things for me.

Your love, O Lord, is eternal,
discard not the work of your hands.

Lord, on the day I called for help, you answered me.

Second Reading - Colossians 2:12-14

You have been buried with Christ, when you were baptised; and by baptism, too, you have been raised up with him through your belief in the power of God who raised him from the dead. You were dead, because you were sinners and had not been circumcised: he has brought you to life with him, he has forgiven us all our sins. He has overridden the Law, and cancelled every record of the debt that we had to pay; he has done away with it by nailing it to the cross.

Gospel Acclamation

Alleluia, alleluia!

You have received the Spirit which makes us God's children, and in that Spirit we call God our Father.
Alleluia!

Gospel - Luke 11:1-13

Once Jesus was in a certain place praying, and when he had finished one of his disciples said, 'Lord, teach us to pray, just as John taught his disciples.' He said to them, 'Say this when you pray: "Father, may your name be held holy, your kingdom come; give us each day our daily bread, and forgive us our sins, for we ourselves forgive each one who is in debt to us. And do not put us to the test." ' He also said to them: 'Suppose one of you has a friend and goes to him in the middle of the night to say, "My friend, lend me three loaves, because a friend of mine on his travels has just arrived at my house and I have nothing to offer him"; and the man answers from inside the house, "Do not bother me. The door is bolted now, and my children and I are in bed; I cannot get up to give it to you." I tell you, if the man does not get up and give it to him for friendship's sake, persistence will be enough to make him get up and give his friend all he wants. 'So I say to you: Ask, and it will be given to you; search, and you will find; knock, and the door will be opened to you. For the one who asks always receives; the one who searches always finds; the one who knocks will always have the door opened to him. What father among you would hand his son a stone when he asked for bread? Or hand him a snake instead of a fish? Or hand him a scorpion if he asked for an egg? If you then, who are evil, know how to give your children what is good, how much more will the heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to those who ask him!'
